Last Updated on: March 6, 2025

Welcome to Pandecta Inc.

Our vision is a world where proactive health monitoring provides the foundation for informed personalized healthcare helping people achieve optimal well being. Based on comprehensive, highly selective, peer reviewed research and current and emerging clinical practice we provide risk assessment for many human ailments and health and wellness conditions. This risk assessment is intended to support health related decisions and lifestyle choices alongside physicians' recommendations.

What we do?

Pandecta Inc. ("Pandecta", "we", "us", "our") offers protein analysis from biological samples (i.e. blood sample) to provide you and your healthcare practitioner with insights into your personal health and wellness. Our services include:

- Facilitating access to third party laboratory and healthcare professionals for convenient sample collection.
- Analysis of said blood samples.
- Generation of a proteomic analysis report (the "Report") outlining your predicted health and wellness risks and recommendations as to the next steps including but not limited to: consultations with healthcare professionals and lifestyle changes.
- Facilitating opportunities to connect with third party healthcare professionals regarding further related tests.

Cautionary Statements

Pandecta provides risk assessment based on protein data. These assessments are not definitive diagnoses. A minimal risk assessment does not guarantee the absence of a condition and an elevated risk assessment does not confirm its presence. While Pandecta strives for complete and accurate lab results, your samples may yield inconclusive or unreliable result. Our analysis presents a snapshot of your health at the time the sample is taken. Protein levels and other biomarkers are highly influenced by a range of factors such as age, environment, diet, exercise, medications and drugs. Therefore, the results may not accurately depict your regular or ongoing health state.

Our assessments provide an opportunity to proactively address potential health concerns and to seek further medical advice. The information provided by Pandecta should only be used as a tool to facilitate discussions with your healthcare providers.

The services and the Report provided by Pandecta are not a substitute for medical care, medical advice or medical opinions. The information (including, without limitation, advice and recommendations) and the services provided by us are intended solely as a general educational aid and are, neither medical nor healthcare advice. The insights and recommendations are for general informational purposes only and they are not a replacement for healthcare consultation, diagnoses or treatment. It is recommended that you always seek the advice of your physician or other healthcare professional with any questions you may have regarding a medical condition. You should not delay seeking medical advice, disregard medical advice, or discontinue medical treatment because of the information provided by Pandecta in the Report. The analysis of your test results and the Report should be discussed with your physician or other health professional.

While Pandecta strives to keep the information accurate and up to date, medical and scientific knowledge and clinical treatments change quickly and the information and services provided by Pandecta should not be considered error free or as a comprehensive source of all information on a particular topic.
